U.S. TRADES RED SPY ABEL FOR POWERS

Romney To Run For Governor Of Michigan

Republicans Expect No Opposition In August Primaries

DETROIT (AP) — Industrialist George Romney announced today he will seek the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan.

But he said he will not become an active candidate until "completion of my responsibilities as a constitutional convention delegate." Romney is a delegate to a Michigan constitutional convention that is expected to complete redraft of the state's 1908 basic law by the end of March.

Romney, American Motors Corp. president, was accompanied by his wife and son, Mitt, 14, when he announced at a news conference his intention to enter politics. He limited himself initially to the bare declaration of candidacy, and told newsmen he would meet them later for an extended statement.

Gov. Swainson Opponent

Romney, 54, against whom Republican leaders anticipate no August primary opposition, presumably will contest with Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, 36, now in his first term. Democrats have held the Michigan governorship for 13 years.

Swainson, in commenting on Romney's announcement, said:

After the longest publicity countdown in Michigan political history, the announcement comes as quite an anti-climax and surprises no one.

"It is curious, however, that someone who has complained about the sorry record of the Republican party and about being forced to publicly identify himself as a Republican, now is so eager to become its leader. But that is a Republican problem.

"Democratic candidates, with good reason, take great pride in their party and its record."

Follows Night of Seclusion

Romney's scheduled news conference followed a night of seclusion at his Bloomfield Hills suburban home, where he prayerfully sought "guidance beyond that of man." A devout Mormon, he occupies a post in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints equivalent to that of a bishop.

The two-year term of Michigan's next governor would end in 1964—a presidential year. And among those who have suggested Romney as "a promising prospect" for the GOP White House toga is former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Only last month former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said the handsome, graying Atlantic president would make "an attractive candidate" and was "a very impressive fellow, with a very articulate, pleasant personality."

Some others within GOP ranks have suggested him as a possible compromise between liberals headed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and conservatives headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Romney pooh-poohed suggestions he had any political ambitions beyond the governorship after he conceded he was considering the race.

Romney discussed the situation in a television interview, tape-recorded earlier for broadcast Friday night on the CBS network program "Eyewitness." He said the principal factor guiding him toward a decision on whether to run for governor is, "How can I do the most good?"

Asked about a "Romney for president" boom, he replied, "All I know about that is what I've read about it." He said it was something that has developed spontaneously and "not as a result of anything I've done."

Romney said it was too early to predict Republican chances in the 1964 presidential campaign.

Alliance, Minerva Men Die In Crash

Two Stark County men were killed and their car demolished in a one-car mishap on Rt. 80, two miles south of Minerva, at 2 a.m. today.

Dying a half-hour after being admitted to Alliance City Hospital was Thomas C. (Chuck) Wright, 44, of 757 Wright Ave., Alliance, driver of the auto. A passenger in the car, John (Jack) Talbert, 74, of 201 S. Main St., Minerva, was dead on arrival at the hospital.

According to the Carroll County Sheriff's Department, Wright apparently lost control of his vehicle on a curve at a high rate of speed, causing the car to plunge into a ditch on the right side of the road and flip end-over-end for 315 feet.

Both men were thrown from the auto, which was broken into pieces, the department reported.

Wright was owner of the Normandy Inn in Minerva and the two men were headed toward Minerva after closing the establishment for the night, deputies reported.

Wright's body was taken to the Schrader Funeral Home in Alliance.

County GOP Dinner Set For Feb. 21

Leonard Nadasdy of Minneapolis, Minn., chairman of the National Young Republican Federation, will be the principal speaker at the annual countywide Lincoln Day dinner Feb. 21 at 6:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Lisbon.

Nadasdy graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1952 with a degree in political science and history. He served two years in the Army and is now employed by General Mills, Inc.

His present position is one of many he has held in the GOP. He has been Young Republican National First Voters chairman; Young Republican National vice-chairman and a member of the Young Republican Farm Council. Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon is general chairman of the dinner. Tickets may be obtained from him or from officers of the local Republican Club.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Cars operated by Leo Richard Marple, 19, of 544 Walnut St. and John Thomas Hlavcak, 38, of 381 N. Roosevelt Ave., collided at the intersection of E. Pershing St. and S. Lundy Ave. at 9:28 a.m. today, causing minor damage to both vehicles.

Communists, SAO Strike At De Gaulle

Serious Discontent Against Regime Aroused by Reds

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle, moving swiftly toward peace with the Algerian rebels, was under attack today from the right and the left, both seemingly intent on toppling his government before he can bring it off.

The right-wing Secret Army Organization directs its terrorist campaign to keep Algeria French at the De Gaulle government in hopes that his fall would bring on a Paris government more to its liking, if not of its choosing.

France's big Communist party sees in the rightist shootings and bombings a tailor-made excuse to rally opposition to the De Gaulle government. The Communists are on record as supporting Algerian independence, and presumably would be expected to help De Gaulle achieve this goal.

Red Looking Beyond

But the Communists are obviously looking beyond. They have always wanted De Gaulle out, but had been unable to lend his popular backing among the great majority of Frenchmen.

Now, however, for the first time since De Gaulle came to power in June 1958, the Communist party appears to have aroused serious discontent against government authority. Unable to hurt him with frontal attacks, the Communists are making headway at his flank by using the secret army as an issue.

Public anger is aroused, both at the rightists for their terrorist activities that daily become more numerous and bolder in France itself, and at the government for its seeming inability to put the rightists down.

Interior Minister Roger Frey charged that the Communists provoked Thursday night's bloody rioting that broke out during a leftist-called demonstration of 10,000 against the secret army. Eight persons were killed; 140 policemen and uncounted numbers of demonstrators were injured.

Blames Red Commando Groups

Maurice Legay, director of municipal police, blamed the violence on "organized and trained commando groups of 25 to 30 persons" each with a leader and acting "like well-trained soldiers."

France's Communist party has drawn as many as 5-million votes in postwar elections in this nation of 60 million, but is not itself large enough to force De Gaulle out. It declared in a statement Friday that the party was "always ready to collaborate on all grounds with all parties, movements and men who have decided to carry out the political change that is already under way."

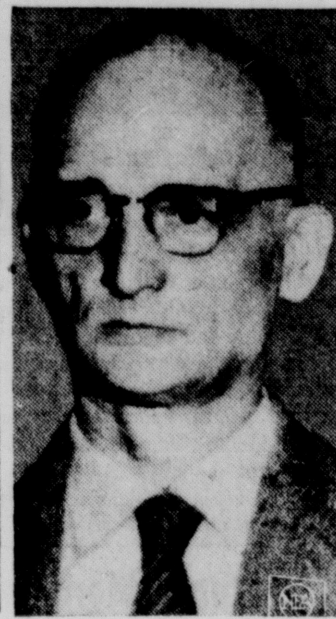

Socialist and labor unionists, students and even actress Brigitte Bardot joined the Communists in a strike protesting alleged police savagery in controlling the riot.

Thus the Communists seemed to

Powers Swap Bid To Ease Cold War?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet release of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers effectively closes the book on one of the most famous spy cases of history. What it means to U.S.-Soviet relations can only be judged by future events.

There is a keen awareness in the highest quarters of government here, however, that Premier Khrushchev has recently appeared to be interested in decreasing Cold War tensions and seeking better avenues of communication with Washington.

President Kennedy has been working to the same end. Whether so designed or not, the exchange of Powers and convicted Soviet spy Rudolf Abel seems to fit into that pattern.

Initially, well-informed officials were inclined to regard the exchange as meaning more in the classic tradition of a trade between nations of men who were important to each side. Fitting into this theory is the fact that some moves in connection with the Powers-Abel deal are reported to have started as long ago as last May, a few months after the Kennedy administration took office.

Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, lunched here last week with President Kennedy and his press secretary, Pierre Salinger. A day earlier Salinger had met in Paris with Mikhail Kharlamov to talk about exchanging top-level television interviews and otherwise improving communications.

Government officials said that the Adzhubei and Kharlamov conferences did not deal with the Abel-Powers exchange.

They did, nevertheless, bear upon a problem which the Kennedy administration considers of extreme importance and from which U.S. interest in increasing Soviet contact is derived. This is the problem of the Soviet-Chinese political conflict that has split the Communist bloc.

Because of this tension between the world's two great Red powers some experts here believe Russia may be impelled to move away from more aggressive international policies and toward an increasing nationalistic concept of its own interest.

So far as U.S. interest in bringing Powers home is concerned, speculation on the possibility of a deal involving the U2 pilot and the famous Col. Abel goes back into the final months of the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration and the weeks immediately following Powers' capture and conviction.

His return, in other words, has been a matter of interest to both administrations in Washington ever since his spy plane went down over central Russia on May 1, 1960.

Obviously, military and intelligence

Legion Essay Winners Are Announced

Eight Columbiana County school students were named as winners in the Legion - sponsored essay contest, "My Responsibilities As An American Citizen," when the Legion Council met Friday night at the Glenmoor Post.

Dr. James R. Garstick of Columbiana announced the winners as follows:

Carol Winegard and Richard Heine of Columbiana, freshmen awards.

Mike Jewell of RD 4, Lisbon, student at United Local High School, and Linda Swanson of Columbiana, sophomores.

Brigit O'Farrell of East Liverpool and Brooks Weingart of RD 2, Salem, student at United Local, juniors.

Emil Ziegler of Hanoverton, student at United Local, and Becky Way of Columbiana, seniors.

Judges were Mrs. Effie C. Broomall of Salem and David A. Borrow of Lisbon.

County Council Commander Walter McCoy of Lisbon presided at last night's meeting.

Robert Patchen of Columbiana reported that the county posts had contributed over $910 to the "Gift to the Yank Who Gave" fund. This fund is for hospitalized veterans at Christmas time.

Plans were approved to hold an American Legion Council picnic at Copeland Lake in August. Second vice-commander Bert Keck of Columbiana is in charge of arrangements.

First vice-commander Al Hayes reported that there are 2,467 Legion members in the county. Post 374 at East Liverpool joined the group that has attained their membership quota for 1962. North Georgetown, Columbiana and Glenmoor are the other posts reaching their goals.

John Herman Jr. of Salem urged the County Legion to sponsor a Legion bowling tournament and the Council approved the idea.

The Columbiana County Legion birthday dinner dance will be held at John J. Welsh Post Home in Lisbon Saturday, March 10.

Chester Stellar of Creston, state department commander, will be the guest speaker.

U2 Pilot on Way Home; Another American Freed

WASHINGTON (AP)—American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was freed from a Russian prison and traded dramatically today for master Soviet spy Rudolf Abel in an early morning exchange at the middle of a bridge between East Germany and West Berlin.

A second American was also freed. Frederic Leroy Pryor, an American student who had been held by the Communist East Germans since he was arrested in East Berlin Aug. 25. He was liberated shortly before Powers was turned over to U.S. authorities in Berlin and Abel was released to East German officials. Announcement of the trade was made at the White House at 3:19 a.m. to a corps of newsmen routed out of bed.

President Kennedy had gotten the word only a few minutes before in his White House quarters. A U.S. spokesman in Berlin said about 2½ hours after the White House announcement that Powers had left Berlin. He is expected to arrive at 1:30 EST.

Powers had been in Russian custody since his high-altitude camera plane was downed on Soviet soil in May 1960. After a spectacular public trial in which Powers pleaded guilty to espionage charges, he was sentenced to 10 years.

Now, Powers' father said, Abel had been described as Russia's chief spy in the United States when he was arrested in Manhattan June 21, 1957.

The exchange went off with cloak and dagger secrecy.

The White House fixed the time of the Powers-Abel swap at 8:52 a.m. Berlin time.

Government sources put together this description of the mid-bridge trade and the background that led up to it:

The dark-haired Powers and the gaunt Abel were escorted simultaneously onto Glienicker Bridge, connecting Potsdam with Wannsee in the U.S. sector of Berlin.

Abel had been taken by plane from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta to New York early Wednesday. Then on Thursday he was flown from McGuire Air Force Base at Ft. Dix, N.J., to Tempelhof Airfield in Berlin, where he arrived Friday afternoon. He spent his time in a West Berlin cell.

The walk to freedom on the Bridge for Powers ended weeks of Soviet-U.S. negotiations.

Edwin Guthman, a Justice Department spokesman, said James B. Donovan, a New York lawyer, played a key role in the swap. Guthman said it began late in 1960 when Abel's wife in East Germany sent a letter to Donovan, who had been Abel's defense attorney, asking if he could get clemency for her husband.

After talks with the Justice Department he suggested she address her appeal directly to President Kennedy after he took office.

About a month or six weeks ago, when it looked like there were grounds for conferences, Donovan was authorized by the government to make the trip to East Berlin "and explore the situation." He arrived there about two weeks ago.

When negotiations neared the point of success, the President signed a commutation order for Abel, drafted so that the commutation became effective the moment the swap actually took place.

For Powers it was his first breath of free air since his high-altitude reconnaissance plane crashed on Soviet soil.

The U2 pilot pleaded guilty to espionage charges and after a trial in Moscow was sentenced to 10 years—three in prison and seven in a prison colony.

The U2 incident broke just prior to a Big Four summit meeting in Paris in May of 1960. Soviet Premier Khrushchev, ranting at what he called an audacious act, used the episode to short-circuit the conference.

The White House said efforts to obtain Powers' freedom "have been under way for some time."

Abel was sent to federal prison after his conviction of espionage in 1957.

The White House announcement at 3:19 a.m. said in part: "The President has commuted the sentence of Rudolf Abel who has been serving a 30-year sentence in a federal prison following his conviction in 1957 on espionage charges. Mr. Abel has been deported and has been released in Berlin."

"Efforts to obtain Mr. Powers' release have been under way for some time. In recent efforts the United States government has had the cooperation and assistance of Mr. James B. Donovan, a New York attorney."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Powers would be on his way to this country "in a very short period of time."

This was the second release of Soviet-held U.S. fliers since President Kennedy took office.

At his first presidential news conference in January 1961, Kennedy announced the release of two imprisoned RB47 crewmen, Capt. John R. McKone of Toped, Kan., and Capt. Freeman B. Olmsted, of Elmira, N.Y.

The fliers had been held captive by the Russians for almost seven months after their reconnaissance plane was shot down over arctic

What Do We Have In Mind?

When steel industry managers and spokesmen for the industry's unionized employees go at it hammer and tongs next Wednesday, the country will be expecting a minor miracle.

Ever since late last summer, the steel industry has been under the White House guns for a new labor contract that would contribute neither to inflation nor to the dislocation that preceded and followed the 1959 negotiations, which reached a climax in a 116-day walkout.

Not only have the guns of the White House loomed over the forthcoming negotiations, moreover, Steelworkers and others whose livelihoods are geared to steel production have made it plain in every way that they didn't want a strike or avoidable dislocations. There is maximum pressure on steel negotiators in 1962.

BUT IF THE negotiators broke down and admitted, in private, that they wonder what they're supposed to do no one could honestly be surprised.

The Wage Policy Committee of United Steelworkers must try to get higher wages, more job security and more fringe benefits; that's what unions are supposed to get for their members.

Negotiators for management must try to keep production costs from rising, which could mean less job security and fewer fringe benefits. Management's job is to keep companies in business at a profit.

Government, moreover, is supposed to look after the interests of both labor and management while looking after its own interests, which comprise maximum tax revenues from the highest possible totals of production, minimum depreciation of dollar value and the least possible amount of business dislocation due to work stoppages and slumps and booms.

SO WHAT DO we have in mind—all of us—when we expect a minor miracle of steel contract negotiation starting next Wednesday?

As a matter of fact, what do we have in mind these days when we expect everything to turn out for the best in industries like steel that are being asked to guarantee job security and ever-higher wages and benefits at the same time they are required to automate and cut production costs?

How do we expect them to reconcile their positions?

Is it any wonder that contract negotiations sometimes resemble nothing so much as an unstoppable force meeting an immovable object?

Long Live the Queen!

It seems like only yesterday that the world was agog with the fanfare that accompanied the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. But it has been a decade since the demure young lady acceded to the throne of the British Empire.

Historians are not likely to designate the years of her reign as the Elizabethan III period, as they honored her predecessors Elizabeth I and Victoria. This is not surprising, for royalty no longer occupies the position of eminence it once did.

But Queen Elizabeth II has rightly gained the affection and admiration not only of her countrymen but of the world. One need go back no further than last November to find a reason for this. At the time, disorders in Ghana caused British officials to consider cancelling her scheduled visit to that new African nation. But the Queen went to Ghana and was warmly received.

It has been thus in her tours throughout the world since she became queen. Her most recent visit to the United States, for instance, found her accepted as one of our own.

Americans never have been fully able to understand or appreciate the British devotion to royalty, but we have been more keenly aware of the British royal family since the dramatic abdication of Edward VIII, which hastened the ascendancy of Elizabeth II.

We have watched with interest the growth of Elizabeth's family and the romantic involvements of her sister Margaret. We have shared their joys and disappointments.

Long live the Queen, may her reign be as long as that of Victoria.

More Than Paper Danger

If Americans needed something special to be thankful for, they could be thankful for their tradition that civil authority must be supreme over military authority in their republic.

The severest test ever made of the tradition was the MacArthur incident during President Truman's administration, and to this day many Americans do not understand what caused the issue to be joined between the two men. That was it—the age-old issue of civil vs. military authority. Mr. Truman won. He had to win. Had he lost, the United States would have lost one of its most precious traditions.

The danger of a naked clash between civil and military authority is on display in France, where President DeGaulle is preparing to use the French army to put down an uprising of dissident French militarists. If his government makes peace in Algeria on terms they say they will never accept, the dissidents are expected to start a revolution against DeGaulle, a soldier himself.

Militarists are maintained to make war when war is necessary. They must take their orders from civil authority. Their only area of competence is militarism, unless they strip themselves of military rank and obligations. Only then are they competent to deal in civil affairs.

The showdown issue in France will be the loyalty or lack of loyalty among army officers and troops. If they side with DeGaulle, there can be peace with honor in Algeria. If they side with the military dissidents who would destroy France before they would yield in Algeria, there can be no peace. France will have become a military dictatorship, ruled by one wave of militarists after another, each to be brought down in turn by the violence of the next.

Whatever President DeGaulle has done wrong, he must do this thing right because France can be lost if he fails.

Perry Twp. Roads

Perry Township surrounding the city of Salem boasts some of the best roads and best-maintained secondary thoroughfares of any similar political subdivision in the county.

This is the result of a program of giving constant attention to the roads, including new allotment streets once they are brought to grade. And, according to the $29,712 which the trustees have just earmarked for road purposes this summer, the highways are not going to lack attention this year.

Some cities just might be a wee bit envious of their "country cousins."

Once Over

Federal probes of airwave shows were told by TV executive that fans took commercials in stride and found them nonirritating. Asked if he did not think public found frequent interruptions of drama by sales-pitches annoying, he replied he did not consider the matter serious. He is a poor judge of irritants. If fans are not annoyed by commercials busting in at height of dramatic interest, what's causing all that profanity in TV rooms of America, when even a Romeo & Juliet scene is interrupted by the Capulet Quartette singing a jingle for pizza pies?

Or episodes like the following:

As story resumes and hero is rescued and shown staring at a fence, another commercial declares, "I feel good. My headache is gone and my stomach isn't upset any more."

3. Girl has been kidnapped. After leaping

Many adults give unselfishly of their time and efforts to help the beginning Cubs and the older Scouts and this salute to them is fitting.

The scouting program gets new leaders from time to time but many are citizens who are veterans in the ranks. Their reward is the satisfaction of seeing boys trained in self-reliance, skills and service to God and their country.

"C' Mon --- More Slack"

The Vanishing Surplus

By JOSEPH R. SLEVIN

President Kennedy's "modest" budget surplus is beginning to look more like a budget deficit.

The chief executive predicted a $500 million surplus when he sent his budget to Congress. A fresh check of the evidence suggests that a $500 million deficit is more likely.

The big change is in the revenue side of the ledger. It now looks as though tax receipts may be roughly $1 billion smaller than Mr. Kennedy predicted.

The President forecast a surplus because he expected that tax collections would jump to a record-breaking total of $93 billion while spending would climb to a peacetime high of $92.5 billion. But current indications are that tax collections will come closer to $92 billion than to $93 billion—and that means that there is a better chance of a $500 million deficit than of a $500 million surplus.

It's still pretty much a statistical guessing game at this point, for the forecasters are attempting to pinpoint the revenues for fiscal 1963, the year that will end on June 30, 1963.

THEY WERE TRYING to look 18 months into the future when the budget went to the printers in early January, and they are trying to look 17 months ahead now. The time gap is a formidable obstacle and budget revenue forecasts have been notoriously inaccurate.

Administration experts recently ran a check of presidential revenue predictions for the past eight years. They discovered that the annual forecasts missed the actual collection totals by an average of $4.5 billion.

There are two important reasons why Mr. Kennedy's $93 billion revenue forecast now looks overly optimistic.

One is that the House Ways and Means Committee tentatively has approved a major tax revision bill that will chop $500 million from government revenues in fiscal 1963.

The other is that an additional $400 million to $600 million of revenue will be lost as the net result of more generous depreciation allowances that the Treasury plans to adopt by administrative action.

The President didn't allow for either the tax bill or the administrative concessions in the budget estimates that he laid before Congress last month.

The Ways and Means Committee bill provides for giving businessmen an 8 per cent investment credit that will slash $1.8 billion from tax collections. The credit is supposed to stimulate business activity by encouraging businessmen to purchase new productive equipment.

ABOUT $1.3 BILLION of the tax loss will be offset by "loophole" closing provisions and by large revenues that are expected to flow from the higher activity that will result from the tax credit.

The chief "loophole" clause would impose a 20 per cent withholding tax on dividend and interest payments. Others would crack-down on business entertainment deductions, tighten up the capital gains treatment of sales of depreciated property, substantially boost the levy on mutual savings institutions and impose new taxes on individual and corporate overseas income.

While the tax bill will cost the Treasury about $500 million next year, fiscal experts estimate that it will yield more revenue than it will lose in fiscal 1964 and even larger surpluses in later years. The explanation is that some of the bill's provisions will have a delayed impact while others will take effect over a period of years.

The administrative change that will cost the Treasury a net of $400 million to $600 million is a revision of the Department's Bulletin F—the document that sets out the rates at which different industries may take depreciation deductions on plant and equipment.

The textile industry has been given at 40 per cent concession and the changes for other industries are expected to average better than half of the textile liberalization.

But the final word on Mr. Kennedy's fiscal 1963 surplus or deficit will not be written until June 30, 1963.

The tax bill ultimately passed by Congress may bear little resemblance to the Ways and Means Committee's tentative document.

Spending may be higher or lower than the $92.5 billion that Mr. Kennedy has forecast—and business activity may or may not be vigorous enough to produce the incomes and tax collections that the President is counting on.

JFK's Farm Message

By PETER EDSON

More Food Will Be Produced on Less Land

The most arresting statement in President Kennedy's omnibus farm message to Congress is that, "In spite of a 65-million increase in population by 1980, our farms will be able to produce all we need with 50 million fewer acres than we have in cropland today."

This assumes that the American technological advances in agriculture will continue for the next 20 years at the same rates as in the last 20 years.

The conclusions drawn from this assumption are that the existing $9 billion worth of farm surpluses will have to be reduced to reasonable year-to-year carryovers, and that land in cultivation will have to be reduced in acreage so that it produces no more than can be consumed.

The nature of the reforms proposed is indicated by the goal of increasing farm income by 25 per cent within the next five years without increasing subsidies to farmers or prices charged consumers. It will be a neat trick if they can do it.

With United States population increasing the way it is, there is no promise that Department of Agriculture appropriations will decrease. But it is implied that tax dollars will be channeled into more productive uses than paying storage costs on surpluses.

AGRICULTURE SECRETARY

Orville L. Freeman will be out beating the bushes to sell his program to the farmers during most of February and as long thereafter as necessary. The package he is presenting there and to Congress to back up the President's message is a 50-page booklet of text and charts labeled, "Food and Agriculture—A Program for the '60s."

On the cover is a flat, diamond-shaped seal for the program labeled, "Agriculture." Its four quarters illustrate the A-B-C-D's of the plan.

There is a horn of plenty for abundance, a scale for balance, a couple of pine trees for conservation, a power line for development.

The idea behind the 'abundance' part of the program is that more is being produced by efficient American agriculture than can be consumed. New legislation is therefore recommended to enable the United States to share its abundance with needy foreign countries through liberalized sales and grants, and with the needy at home through expanded school lunch and stamp plans.

The "balance" part of the program is intended to cut production of commodities now in serious oversupply and bring them into line with what is needed and what can be consumed.

The conservation goal is to achieve a more efficient use of land resources. Grain production would be cut and more acreage diverted into tree farming, grass lands, hunting, fishing and recreation green belts around metropolitan areas. Loans would be given to farmers to convert their land for enjoyment of the people.

The "development" in the program means the development of human resources in farm and by bringing new industries into marginal farm land areas, to provide better incomes for farm people instead of driving them into cities.

THE SPECIFICS of these programs are too long and complex to present here in any detail. In summary they call for new wheat, feed grain and dairy programs to be approved or rejected by farmers through voting in national referendums.

Cotton and sugar programs will come in separate legislative proposals within a month or so. And the President also promises another message on land resource utilization.

The dairy program would become effective as soon as it can be enacted and ratified. Others would be made effective for the crops harvested in 1963.

These programs will be criticized as unrealistic, visionary, radical, revolutionary and as imposing the most stringent controls ever proposed for American agriculture.

But if they can achieve only a fraction of the goals sought, they might at least wipe out some of the abuses in present farm programs that have been allowed to drift too long uncorrected. The alternative—removal of all controls—would probably bring farm price breaks and ruin for many farmers.

FARM PROGRAM SEAL — A-B-C-D's of President Kennedy's farm program are expressed in seal, above. It appears on 50-page booklet explaining the program in text, charts.

Already Down and Out

By TRUMAN TWILL

Nothing would please me more than to jump into the fight over Webster's Third New International Dictionary. But I couldn't hit a man who was already down and out.

The issue they're fighting about, which is whether or not some words are "colloquial" and therefore not good form, has been settled and over for a couple decades. The editors of the new dictionary thought so when they dumped the distinction between language in good standing and colloquialisms.

But the public is just catching up to reality and is, in a sweat, as it always is when it learns that something has been changed while it wasn't watching. Language ain't what she used to be, dad—if it ever was what people say it used to be.

Language is communication and what the stuffed shirts have discovered to their disgust is that we common, ordinary working stiff have just as much right to communicate as they have.

Always before when they borrowed words and phrases from us to spice their dull and unimaginative speech, they apologized for it. A colloquialism, they said, which was supposed to prove they really knew better but used it because it was cute.

What happened, however, was that the Lord kept right on loving the common people and made more of them than the other kind, which meant that the language they spoke, being more vigorous in the first place, gradually became the dominant influence.

The stuffed shirts with their grammar-teacher talk were left high and dry. The language shoe now is on the other foot. We common people think it's kinda cute when President Jack talks through his nose and says "Cuber" for "Cuba." We didn't hold it against Franklin Roosevelt for his funny lingo because it wasn't his fault he had been sent away to Groton and Hahvahd. It was just a bad break.

Radio and television came along, too. Except for the provincial twanging of the unconquered provinces in the South, nearly everybody now can understand everybody else in the language of electronics. Some of it is calculated to take 20 years off a school-marm's life, but it's tops in communication. Remember how the purists tizzied when a cigarette tasted good like a cigarette should. That wasn't the way to say it, they squawked. But most people didn't even know what the squawk was about.

That's the difference between dictionary English and English as she is spoke by the working stiff, who are now in full control of the language.

People who habitually speak and write the language have more to do with its usage in 24 hours than the purists who mull over its nuances and traces of vulgarity have to do with its usage in 24 years.

The users are now acknowledged to be in control, as in fact they always were. The essential fact is that language is for communication. It is a living instrumentality for daily use.

When I was a college boy I spent a brief period as councilor in a camp for underprivileged boys. I was what could be called a privileged boy. Within an hour after I had met my charges I was talking their language, because for sure they weren't going to talk mine.

That was communication. Mostly I've been talking the language of the underprivileged ever since, because otherwise I'd get lonesome for someone to talk to.

General Fund Couldn't Be Tapped Street Dept. Deficit Cited As Reason Funds Borrowed

Why did City Council borrow $5,000 from a local bank recently for the street department fund when there supposedly was money in the general fund that could have been transferred without having to pay interest?

This is a question city officials are being asked since council voted Jan. 23 to borrow $5,000 to meet the street department payroll until gasoline tax payments are received from the state.

Many people are asking why the city borrowed money only a few weeks after the auditor reported that Salem started 1962 with a general fund balance of $27,892.

"PEOPLE JUST DON'T realize," said Auditor Helen Coyne, "that I can't take money out of one fund and put it in another any time I feel like it."

"It was the street fund that ran short of money," the auditor explained. "I can't legally pay street department workers out of the general fund."

Mrs. Coyne said that Council could have transferred money to the general fund to the street fund if it had wanted to. "It's my opinion, though, that the street department should be made to operate on its own."

The auditor remarked that if all departments would spend more money than they have coming in with the idea that they can be rescued by the general fund, the city would soon be in serious financial condition.

Mrs. Coyne said that a $27,892 balance doesn't go too far when one considers that the general fund payroll amounts to almost $18,000 per month.

FRED KOENREICH, chairman of Council's finance committee, echoed the auditor's sentiments. He said the street department started the year with a surplus of almost $9,000, got another $89,100 from various sources during the year and still wound up in the red.

As of Jan. 1, the street fund had a balance of $8,038, but there was a backlog of $11,247 in unpaid bills.

Koenreich said he believes the street fund should "stand on its own" and not rely on an "already burdened" general fund.

The auditor said a payment of about $6,300 from the state from gasoline taxes should come in for the street department fund in a few weeks. Most of this would be used in paying the $5,000 loan, she explained.

The next appreciable amount of money for the street fund is expected in April or May when the city's share of auto license sales should be coming in from the state. The city got $29,630 from auto license sales in 1961.

Service Director James Feiler recently cut the hours for street department personnel from 40 to 32 per week due to the shortage of funds.

Koenreich commented that he thought this should have been done a long time ago.

gence officials are eager to learn in detail what went wrong with the flight, one of a kind which had been going on for four years.

The Soviets are understood to have shown during the prisoner-trade negotiations that they badly wanted Abel back.

Kennedy administration officials, noting that he had been in jail here for several years, considered his further imprisonment useless in terms of U.S. national interest.

When Powers' plane went down the world was just two weeks away from an East-West summit conference in Paris and entertained unjustifiably high hopes that something might be done there about ending the Berlin crisis.

On May 17 the summit conference at Paris broke down. Khrushchev denounced U.S. spy plane operations and called Eisenhower a "fishy" friend.

Today there are few hopes of any radical change in Soviet aggressive policies in Berlin or Laos or Viet Nam.

With Russia's recent test series the nuclear arm race is going on at a stepped up pace. The decision to release Powers thus fits into the category of actions which the Soviets could take to ease East-West tensions without having to make any change in their positions on vitally important issues where their major interests are involved.

UNITED CLUB TO MEET

waters July 1, 1960.

Government sources put together a description of the mid-bridge trade of Powers for Abel and the background that led up to it.

Powers and Abel were escorted simultaneously onto Glienicker Bridge, connecting Potsdam with Wannsee in the U.S. sector of Berlin.

There was no word on just how Powers had been transported from Russia or when he arrived in East Germany.

Abel had been taken by plane from the federal penitentiary in Atlanta to New York early Wednesday. He was held overnight at Federal Detention Headquarters.

Around midday on Thursday the Soviet spy was taken to McGuire Air Force Base at Ft. Dix, N.J. He took off from there at 5:20 p.m. EST on an Air Force C118.

After a stop in Wiesbaden, Abel and his escort landed at Tempelhof Airfield in Berlin at 3:25 p.m. Friday, Berlin time.

He was placed in a cell in West Berlin at 4:15 p.m. and evidently confined there until the time Pryor was turned over to U.S. officials at the Friedrichstrasse border point in Berlin shortly before the swap on the bridge took place.

Powers' parents were asleep in Norton, Va., their home town, when they were notified that their son had at last obtained his freedom from the Soviet prison. They were overjoyed. They were called about five minutes before the exchange was announced.

Powers' wife, Barbara, was told at her home in Milledgeville, Ga. "I'm so elated I can hardly speak," she said. She also said she hoped to see her husband by Sunday.

The elder Powers and Barbara had witnessed the pilot's trial in Moscow. Since then, they had tried to persuade authorities to do all they could to bring him back.

Warren Bribe Trial Goes To Jurors

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A jury was slated to start deliberations today on charges that Paul LaMonge attempted to extort $200,000 in bribes from contractors on a sewer project.

Common Pleas Judge G. H. Birrell was to give final instructions in the trial that began Monday.

LaMonge, 48, of Niles is accused of attempting to extort from Michigan contractors by threat and with larceny of $10,000 by trick.

The indictment, returned by a September grand jury, followed an investigation into the award of a $4.5 million sewer project to two Livonia, Mich., firms—Boam Co., Inc., and Rocco Ferrara Co.

LaMonge took the stand Friday in his own behalf. He admitted being a close friend of Frank A. Cickelli, former Trumbull County Democratic chairman convicted on bribery charges in the sewer scandal. In Cickelli's trial witnesses described LaMonge as Cickelli's agent, who had threatened two contractors.

LaMonge described a meeting last Aug. 29 at Cickelli's house at which he said Cickelli instructed him to return a package containing $5,000 to the contractors.

When he returned the money to Eugene Brady, an officer of Boam Co., LaMonge said, he told Brady: "The trouble with you is that you think you can buy everybody, but you can't buy me."

LaMonge quoted Brady as replying: "The people in Warren aren't worth two cents."

The defense contended LaMonge was given the $5,000 to bribe city officials to change manhole covers on the project.

One charge against LaMonge was dismissed by Judge Birrell Friday. He ruled the state's charge of influencing a grand jury witness should be dropped because of failure to prove the location from which the phone call was placed.

Seven Are Missing In Plane Crash

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—A U.S. Air Force KB50 tanker plane with seven men aboard exploded in the air and crashed into the Atlantic Friday.

An Air Force spokesman said no parachutes were seen and it was assumed none of the crewmen bailed out. But an air-sea search for possible survivors was launched.

The plane, part of the 622nd Refueling Squadron, was based at England Air Force Base in Louisiana. It was returning to Kindley Air Force Base here from a refueling mission when it went down.

The men aboard the plane were identified by the Air Force as Capt. Rowan J. Pallow, 38, St. Cloud, Minn.; Capt. John B. Tracy Jr., 25, Syracuse, N.Y.; Capt. Gaines G. Wilbanks, 30, Decatur, Ga.; T. Sgt. Era P. Horton, 38, Memphis, Tenn.; A.I.C. Guy L. Powell, 26, Puyallup, Wash.; A.I.C. Ralph E. Reutzler, 39, Fremont, Neb.

The seventh man, from Shaw Air Force Base, South Carolina, was identified as Lt. Johnny G. Pitts, 25, Panama City, Fla.

News of Interest to Farmers

Orchard Class Held

Approximately 35 area orchardists attended the first in a series of three meetings on free fruit nutrition sponsored by the Columbiana County extension office on Wednesday.

The course was held at the new Crestview High School, with Elida Banta, extension horticulturist at Ohio State University, as instructor.

The next class will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Fairfield School, with James Beattie, horticulturist at the Ohio Experiment Station at Wooster.

The last meeting will be held same place and time Feb. 21, with Clive Honoho, horticulturist at the Ohio Experiment Station, in charge, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Cooperative to Meet

Annual meeting of the Tri-County Producers' Cooperative will be held at Smith Grange hall Monday at 11 a.m.

Directors are to be elected and dinner served at noon.

Dairy Day Set Feb. 13, 15

Thirty speakers, including some of the top authorities in their fields, will appear at the 29th annual Dairy Technology Conference to be held at The Ohio State University Feb. 13-15.

Build around the theme, "Foundations for Progress," the program will feature special meetings in five main sections — milk supply, engineering, management, quality control and cultured products, and ice cream.

Dr. Emil Mikolajcik, dairy technician at Ohio State, says the roster of speakers will include authorities from universities, the dairy industry, public health agencies, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Nearly 300 persons from Ohio's dairy industry are expected to attend.

Feed Grain Signup Begins

The time is near when a decision must be made on whether or not to participate in the 1962 feed grain program.

Participants receive payments on diverted acres, quality for price support, and help reduce the output of feed grains.

The signup period ends March 30. Dr. Wallace Barr, Ohio State University Extension economist, says the first step is to give your county ASCS office an acreage report, unless this was done under the 1961 program. This report must include the acreage and crops on the farm in 1959 and 1960.

The county ASC committee will establish a base for each farm. If a farmer grew only corn, the base will be determined from that crop. If he grew corn and grain sorghum, then the base will be determined from both.

When the base is determined, the county ASCS committee will send this information to each farmer. Next step is for the farmer to complete and file at the county ASCS office, an intention-to-participate form. This must be done between Feb. 5 and March 30 inclusive. At the same time, the farmer must notify the committee if he wants advanced payments. After these forms are filed the farmer will be responsible for the following:

1. Diverting from corn and grain sorghum the number of acres indicated on the intention-to-participate form.
2. Increasing acreage of land in conservation use, as called for by the diversion.
3. Not exceeding barley feed grain base.
4. Not exceeding the corn and grain sorghum feed grain base and the barley feed grain base on all other farms in which a farmer shares these crops.

Turkey Growers to Meet

Ohio turkey growers, concerned over surpluses and puzzled over the meaning of proposed federal marketing orders, may see the air clear a little when they hold their winter meeting Feb. 17 at Ohio State University. The meeting will be in Hagerty Hall, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Much of the program will be devoted to discussions of proposed turkey marketing orders — what they mean, what they are supposed to do, and how they will affect Ohio growers.

George Rogers of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, will speak on what is in the proposed orders. Dr. Ralph Baker, Ohio State University poultry economist, will discuss turkey outlook and present an appraisal of the proposed orders.

Dr. Elmer Baumer, Ohio State University agricultural economist and authority on federal marketing orders in general, will appear on the program.

Beef Cattle Course Set

Purebred breeders from the Northeastern section of the United States will be converging on Pennsylvania State University, March 20 and 21, for a concentrated course on all phases of breeding of purebred beef cattle, sheep, swine and horses.

Information and application blanks can be obtained from Director of Short Courses, College of Agriculture, Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa.

Youngstown Man

Has Leg Amputated

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The right leg of Bart W. Schrode, 51, was amputated at South Side Hospital today after he was impaled on a pipe at the Campbell Works of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

Schrode was preparing to install a pipe straightener on a pipe mill at the plant early today and had gone to another mill, apparently to get an idea of how the installation should be made. A piece of 3 1/2-inch pipe, still hot and twisting in the straightening process, pierced Schrode's body. He was listed in fair condition.

The swift and sleek greyhound dog first was bred in Egypt between 4000 and 3500 B.C. and later favored by the Greeks.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Quakers Outlast Determined Boardman Five 58-46

By LYNN BROWNE
News Sports Writer

Coach John Cabas' Salem Quakers downed a fired-up Boardman Spartan aggregation 58-46 Friday night at Boardman in the locals' last away game of the regular season but the game was much closer than the final score indicates.

Salem led by only six points (52-46) with less than one minute remaining in the game but spurted ahead in the last 32 seconds to tally three buckets and win going away.

The victory was the locals' 14th win in 16 outings while the hosts suffered their 11th loss in 17 appearances.

Salem jumped to a 4-0 lead early in the first frame but never managed to gain a substantial lead, despite the fact that they led all the way with the exception of the game being tied once in the second period.

Led by junior forward Bob King's six points, the Quakers took immediate control of the game and moved to a 14-9 lead at the end of the first stanza.

Boardman stormed back in the second quarter and evened the game at 15-15 with just about five and a half minutes left in the first half. The Spartans were unable to keep in step with the locals, however, and Salem went into the dressing room at half-time on the good end of a 25-19 score.

In the third stanza the Spartans pulled to within two points of the Quakers on several occasions but could never take the lead. In the closing minutes of the canto, Salem poured on the steam and held a five point advantage (37-32) as the game entered the final eight minutes.

Junior Marlin didn't start the game, as Cabas hinted he might earlier in the week, but he did play the last two quarters and gave the locals a definite boost. He ended the game with eight counters and had several good assists.

"Marlin played a real good game for us," Coach Cabas said.

"He was the coolest player we had on the floor. We expect to see a lot of fine ball from him."

"We never felt that we were in trouble," Cabas commented. "I guess that was our trouble; we took them too lightly and they were tough."

"I thought the officiating was a little ragged, too," he continued. "I'm not complaining, understand, but I do think it hurt us a little."

Boardman's Coach Darl Dolan had praise for both squads. "My boys played a real good game," he said. "They were up for it, there's no question about that. And I know it's hard for John to have his boys up for a game like this."

"Salem is a real fine ball team," he continued. "They played without Eskey, their floor general, and that makes it tough." Eskey is still suffering from a back injury and didn't dress for the game.

"What hurt us most," he explained, "was when we got to within three points (47-44) late in the game and Salem went into a stall. We switched to a man-to-man defense and thought we had to go after them. In trying to get the ball, a couple of them slipped loose. They're too good a ball team to make mistakes against."

One thing Cabas and Dolan differed on was the officiating. "I thought the refs did a real good job," Dolan said. "You might put that in your story."

Bill Beery sparked the Quakers' attack again last night. The 6-2 junior connected on five floor attempts and five charity tosses for 15 points. King was second high for Salem as he pumped in five shots from the floor and one free-throw for 11 counters. Bob Ruscoe was high point man for Boardman, garnering 12.

The locals were definitely "hitting" as they bombed the nets with 24 of 48 shots from the floor for 50 per cent as compared to Boardman's 16 of 44 for 36 per cent.

The only sore spot in Salem's shooting was at the foul line. They hit on only 10 of 20 charity tosses while their opponents meshed 14 of 20.

Salem will return to the local hardwoods next Tuesday when they entertain Youngstown East. The Reserve clash will start at 7 p.m.

Columbiana Slips By Lisbon 61-55

Clippers Keep Hopes Alive In Tri-County

The Columbiana Clippers kept their faint hopes alive at catching league - leading Poland with a hard-fought 61-55 win over Lisbon on the winner's hardwood Friday night.

Coach Rich Berryman's Clippers remained in second place in the loop with a 9-2 mark and moved their over-all record to 12-3, while the Blue Devils fell to 5-6 in the league and 6-9 in all games.

Undefeated Poland won its 11th straight Tri-County League clash, 70-49 over East Palestine last night, and has three loop contests remaining, one against the Clippers.

A surprisingly - tough Lisbon quintet put a scare in the Clips before succumbing in the final period. Columbiana climbed to a 15-9 first quarter lead, but the Blue Devils knotted the count at 30-30 at halftime. The margin went back to the winners 46-43 heading into the final stanza.

Columbiana's Dale Murphy, who hit on 14 of 17 foul shot attempts, was high scorer for the winners with 20 points. Teammate Ken Gallagher was also in double figures with 11 counters.

Lisbon's big scoring threat, Craig Pannier, a 6-0 junior, again led the Blue Devils with 20 tallies.

In a game dominated by fouls, Columbiana hit on 21 of 38 attempts for a 55.3 percentage, while Lisbon made 23 of 42 tries for a 54.8 percentage.

Columbiana's Reserves made a clean sweep of the evening's activities with a 43-38 decision over the Lisbon Jayvees in the preliminary contest.

Both squads will be back in league action again tonight, with Columbiana at Minerva and Lisbon meeting Poland at home.

Schaffer Pumps In 27 Tallies

United Upends Carrollton 57-49 For Ninth Victory

United High Golden Eagles cage team advanced its season mark to 9-7 with a 57-49 victory over Carrollton on the loser's hardwood Friday night.

Coach Larry Joseph's charges led all the way on quarter counts of 18-15, 29-24 and 44-32.

United scoring ace Jerry Schaffer took game individual honors with 11 fielders and five fouls for 27 points, while teammate John Hanna contributed in double figures also with 19 tallies.

Dick Tulin and Joe McElroy were high for the losers with 15 and 12 markers respectively.

United hit on 51 per cent of its shots from the field, making good 23 of 45 attempts, and were 11 of 17 from the charity stripe for a 64.7 average.

Carrollton was 23 of 64 shots from the field for 35.6 per cent and three of 10 from the foul line for a 30 per cent accuracy.

The hosts out-rebounded the United quintet 36-30, with Bill Noble grabbing off 19 for Carrollton and Schaffer high for United with 15.

United's senior forward Ron Hawkins suffered a sprained ankle in the early seconds of the tilt and was forced to sit out the remainder of the fray. Senior Pete Schweigert came off the bench and got three points in the winning cause.

The United Reserves made it a perfect night as they eased by the Carrollton Jayvees 39-38 in the preliminary contest.

Nips League Foe Minerva

Leetonia Turns In 2nd Straight Upset 43-42

Coach Len Batcha's Leetonia Bears pulled their second upset in a row in the Tri-County League cage race as they nipped the Minerva Lions 43-42 in a thriller on the winner's hardwood Friday night.

Just last week the Bears surprised Lisbon 50-43. The win last night upped their league mark to 5-6 and over-all record to 6-9. Minerva's loss put its loop count at 5-6 also, and dropped it to 7-8 in all games.

In a close contest all the way, the Bears took a 14-10 in the first period, but the count knotted 26-all at halftime. A strong third frame put the winners ahead once again 43-38.

The Lions, however, staged a final quarter rally that almost pulled out the victory. Leetonia was held to only two points in the last stanza, and those coming with only three minutes remaining.

Coach Don Lawther's charges dumped in nine points in the period, and a last-ditch shot by Bob Wunderle circled the rim and then out as the game ended.

Junior Hank Nemenz of Leetonia took game scoring honors with 14 points, while teammate Russ Lehman backed him up with 11 counters.

Senior forward Gary Nigro was the ace for the Lions with 13 markers.

The Minerva Reserves evened the night's activities with a 36-25 decision over the Leetonia Jayvees.

Both schools will be back in league action again tonight, with Leetonia traveling to Sebring and Minerva entertaining Columbiana.

Crestview Sets Record In 91-51 Win

Crestview High's impressive varsity basketball team set a new school scoring mark as it trampled Malvern 91-51 on the winner's court Friday night.

The Rebels showed no mercy last night in their second last game of the campaign as they broke out to a 25-12 bulge after one period and then continued to build to 46-27 at intermission and 72-45 heading into the final stanza.

Juniors Jim Kress and Lee Heaton of the Rebels put on a two-man scoring dual, with Kress winding up with 13 fielders and two fouls for 28 points and Heaton meshing 13 from the field and one foul for 27 tallies. Also in double figures for the winners were senior Ray Brown with 18 and senior Wayne Blosser with 10.

Bill Tucci featured for the losers with 21 counters, with teammate Paul Ebner hooping 11.

The victory put the Crestview season mark at 15-2, while its Inter-County League record remained at 3-2.

Coach Bruce Weber's charges will be meeting league - leading Greenford away tonight in the final game of the regular season. The Bobcats currently lead the loop with a 4-0 mark and are favored to cop the title.

The Malvern Reserves turned the tables in the preliminary contest last night as they squeaked by the Crestview Jayvees 37-34.

Platt Features With 14 Points

Coach Karl Zellers cleared the bench Friday night as his Salem Reserves squad routed Boardman's Jayvees 76-42 on the losers' home court.

Eight of the 10 Quakers that saw action ended the game in the scoring column, and four of those were in double figures.

Rick Platt led the attack as he meshed 14 counters. Dave Capel and Marlin Waller each added 12 points all came in the first half. Washington canned 10. Waller's points all came in their first half. He sat out the second half to be able to play in the varsity clash.

Salem jumped to a 19-11 lead at the end of the first period and then widened the margin the rest of the way. The scoreboard read 35-24 at the half and 59-31 going into the final stanza.

The win was the 13th in 16 showings for the locals. They will return to the hardwoods next Tuesday when they play host to the Youngstown East Reserves squad in the local gym. Game time is set for 7 p.m.

Rio Grande, Case Tech Win Tilts

By The Associated Press

The small schools took the Ohio college basketball spotlight Friday night and made the best of it by turning in an overtime game and two that were decided in the final seconds.

Fenn of Cleveland was the overtime victim as Bethany (W. Va.) came from behind to tie, then blanked the Foxes in the extra period and won 84-74.

Rio Grande turned back Beckley (W. Va.) 86-84, when Terry Williams dropped in two free throws in the waning moments.

Bob Zust stole a pass and raced in for a layup to clinch Case Tech's 63-60 triumph over Carnegie Tech. Dave Paul, who scored 28, put Case (7-2) in the lead with one minute left.

Wilberforce trounced Miami-Jacksonville 74-62.

Beaver Local Ends Losing Skein 69-53

The Beaver Local Beavers ended their basketball game losing streak at eight as they upended the hapless Salineville Indians 69-53 on the winner's floor Friday night.

The win moved the Beavers' season mark to 4-11, while the Indians suffered their 15th loss in 16 outings.

A hot second quarter by the Beavers, when they scored 24 points to only 13 for the losers, proved to be the difference in contest. The winners led at the end of every period by counts of 16-13, 40-26 and 49-37.

The county's leading scoring average-wise, Jack Baker of Salineville, took point-getting honors in the game with 24 tallies, while his teammate Jim Carter was also in double figures with 10 counters.

Junior forward George Gaydos featured for the winners as he swished the nets for 21 points. Senior forward John Baker was also high with 17 markers.

The Beaver Local Reserves made it a perfect night on the strength of a 36-34 decision over the Salineville Jayvees.

Moore Stripped Of Boxing Title

Jones-Johnson Tilt To Pick Successor

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Johnson, NBA light heavyweight champion, and Doug Jones of New York probably will battle it out for the undisputed world title in Philadelphia in May now that the New York Athletic Commission finally has ousted Archie Moore.

Promoter Herman Taylor of Philadelphia has the inside track with a substantial offer to Johnson and Jones to meet in the Arena or Convention Hall, May 12.

Johnson, 33-year-old Philadelphia, has accepted a guarantee of $20,000 of the television money and 40 per cent of the gate receipts. Jones, 24-year-old, second-ranking contender from New York, has been offered $17,500 against 20 per cent of the TV receipts and the gate.

Gen. Melvin Krulewicz, chairman of the New York commission, announced the decision that stripped Moore of New York recognition and directed Johnson and Jones to sign for a title fight.

The New York commission lowered the boom on the 45-year-old Moore for failing to sign for a title scrap against either Johnson or Jones. The commission pointed out that Archie had received repeated warnings, had made only one title defense against Italy's Giulio Rinaldi last June 10 — in a 2½ year period.

Both the NBA and New York commission require light heavyweight champions to risk their crowns at least once every six months.

Moore, in San Diego, Calif., threatened to sue the New York commission.

Archie won the light heavyweight title from Joey Maxim in St. Louis Dec. 17, 1952.

For a time, anyway, Archie can claim the title in California and Massachusetts. The California commission will discuss Archie's case Feb. 17. A spokesman for the Massachusetts commission said it wouldn't do anything unless Archie applies for a license in the state.

Cardinals Up Mark To 15-1

Coach Spike McLaughlin's Canfield Cardinals, already cage champions of the Turnpike Conference this season, continued to roll over all opponents as they swamped Greenford in an independent contest 74-55 on the winner's hardwood Friday night.

The win gave the Cardinals a 15-1 mark with only two games remaining on the regular season slate, while the Bobcats suffered their fifth loss in 15 outings.

Canfield struck for an early 14-10 first period lead and then continued to build the margin with a 39-21 count at halftime and a 59-34 bulge heading into the final eight minutes of play.

The winners displayed a potent scoring machine with four starters hitting in double figures. Jim Briggs and Phil Roudesh, both seniors, featured with 18 tallies apiece, while teammates Bob Dove meshed 13 and Dave Hood 10.

digits in the losing cause. Bob Cook, a 6-3 center, led the attack with 21 counters, with teammates Rich Arnold and Dave Tyo each dumping in 10 markers.

Canfield also dominated in the preliminary game as its Reserves blasted the Greenford Jayvees 72-30.

Greenford will be meeting a big opponent tonight when Crestview invades the Bobcats' gym. Coach Jerry Sells' Bobcats must dump the Rebels to continue undefeated in the Inter-County League. A win would also give them at least a tie for the loop crown.

Canfield will travel to Lowellville for its next contest next Friday night.

Indoor Tennis Semifinals On Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck McKinley, the chunky U.S. Davis Cupper, seeks a measure of revenge today from Australian Rod Laver in their semifinal match in the U. S. Indoor Tennis Championships.

McKinley first hopes to reverse the result of last year's Wimbledon final and secondly hopes to avenge the loss of his Trinity (Tex.) University teammate, Frank Froehling, to Laver Friday night.

"Laver's tough. I know that as well as anybody," McKinley said, "but on boards I think I have a good chance."

Froehling, 19, from Coral Gables, Fla., battled Laver for over two hours before bowing, 7-5, 10-12, 12-10.

McKinley, of St. Ann, Mo., earlier had eliminated Pvt. Ron Holmberg, West Point, N.Y., to gain the semifinals along with the top-ranking American player, Whitney Reed, and Spanish Davis Cupper Manuel Santana.

Reed, of Alameda, Calif., conquered Eugene Scott, St. James, N.Y., 7-5, 8-6, to gain the semis against Santana. The slick-stroking Spaniard ousted U.S. Davis Cupper Donald Dell, Bethesda, Md., 6-4, 6-3.

Ducks Ducking Out of Ohio, Sportsmen Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ducks are ducking out of Ohio, the League of Ohio Sportsmen was told Friday.

Buckeye hunters kill too many adult birds and there is not enough open water, explained Karl D. Bednarik, waterfowl specialist of the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

Bednarik told the 54th annual convention of the league that man does much more harm to Ohio's duck population than does nature.

He said the division has raised about 5,000 ducks during the past three years and released them throughout the state only to find that about half of them do not return to Ohio after migration.

Bucks Eye Big Ten Win Record

OSU, Minnesota To Tangle Tonight

By JIM HACKLMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ohio State, undisputed king of the hill in college basketball, shoots for another mark tonight — and odds are high the Buckeyes will make it.

The unbeaten Bucks can tie the Big Ten winning streak record with a victory over Minnesota. In a span dating back two years, Ohio State has won 22 straight in the power conference, bringing the Bucks to within one of the number put together by Wisconsin in 1912-13.

Also in the numbers game, Ohio State will be after its 18th victory of the season, is eighth in the Big Ten and its 32nd in a row at home.

Kentucky's second-ranked Wildcats, on a bit of a tear themselves with 15 consecutive victories, seek to protect their Southeastern Conference lead in a home game against Mississippi. The Wildcats are 16-1, with their lone loss by two points to Southern California. Also in the SEC, ninth-ranked Mississippi State (17-1) is at Tennessee.

Fifth-ranked Duke (14-3), having trouble keeping ahead in the Atlantic Coast Conference, entertains last-place Virginia.

Two hot races in the Midwest resume with Big Eight contenders Colorado and Kansas State and Missouri Valley challengers Cincinnati and Wichita in conference action. Nebraska is at Colorado, Big Eight leader at 6-0, while Missouri plays at Kansas State, No. 4 nationally and 6-1 in its league.

In the Missouri Valley, third-ranked Cincinnati (18-2) is at Tulsa, Wichita (16-5) is at St. Louis and front-running Bradley (15-3) has a non-conference game at Louisville. Bradley is 8-1 in the league, Cincinnati is 7-2 and Wichita is 6-2.

Mid-American leader Bowling Green (15-2), rated eighth in the nation, plays a conference game at Marshall.

Stanford edged past Southern Cal into second place in the Big Five Friday night, trimming the slumping Trojans 67-56. John Windsor led Stanford with 27 points while John Rudometkin had 17 for the Trojans, whose recent setbacks dropped them out of the top ten.

Rick Kaminski and Billy Madden paced a second half rally as Yale came from 11 points back to its 77-68 Ivy League victory over Harvard. Cornell kept pace with the Eli, nipping Princeton 45-43 on a layup by Bill Baugh with 21 seconds to go.

SUBJECT OF CONTROVERSY — John Uelses, Marine pole vaulter who twice has topped the 16-foot barrier at indoor meets, poses at Quantico, Va., with his fiberglass pole which has stirred up a sudden controversy. Not much notice was taken of the pole until the 24-year-old vaulter cleared the bar at 16 feet, 3/4 inch, at the Boston AA games and at 16 feet, 1/4 inch, at the Millrose games in New York.

Major League Appraisals

Phils Expect Sievers To Aid Hitting Attack

By GENE MAUCH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lack of solid, dependable hitting was our main trouble in 1961. This poor offense strained the Phillies pitching. Our guys out there on the mound felt they weren't going to get many runs to work with.

The acquisition of Roy Sievers from the White Sox will help us in many ways. Not only is Sievers a sound hitter, but his presence in the line-up as a "show the way" guy should inspire some of our good, young prospects such as Johnny Callison, Don Demeter and Tony Gonzalez. Sievers' power also will work a hardship with opposition pitching that they didn't have to contend with last season.

"We've got a couple of mighty promising youngsters coming up from Buffalo of the International League. They are Ted Savage and Jack Davis. Savage hit .325 with 24 homers last year. Davis had a .301 average with 16 home runs. I'm hoping Andy Carey, whom we got from the White Sox for third base, will be one of our regulars.

I'm looking for an improved performance from Tony Taylor, our second baseman. He was not in the best of shape last year and was way below his 1960 form.

Proven major league pitchers are the Phillies' big need. We have some hard-throwing youngsters who will be given every opportunity to win regular berths. We have Art Mahaffey, Chris Short and Jim Owens as almost certain starting pitchers plus a pretty good bullpen with Jack Baldschun, Don Ferrarese and Frank Sullivan.

We picked up two good utility infielders this winter — Frank Torre and Billy Conso.

I don't want to predict where we'll finish, but I will say that 1962 will be a happier year for Philadelphia baseball fans.

Palmer Has Big Lead In Phoenix Open

By CARL BELL

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The field in the $35,000 Phoenix Open faced just about the toughest assignment in tournament golf to-day—trying to catch fast-finishing Arnold Palmer who already holds a five-stroke lead.

The defending champion went into the third round 10 under par with 64-68-132.

Art Wall Jr., running second, had to employ his best recovery shots and all his putting skill to scramble for a 70. That left him at 137.

At 139 were Bob Rosburg, Gene Littler, Johnny Pott, Don Massengale, Bob McCallister and Gardner Dickinson.

Although he needed four more shots in the second round, Palmer felt he played as well as he had in his seven-under-par performance of Thursday.

"I just didn't make any putts after hitting 17 greens in regulation," he said. His longest successful putt was six feet.

Palmer, golf's leading money winner in 1960 and No. 2 winner last year, is noted for coming from behind to win tournaments. The last time he had held such a lead at the halfway point was last year at Baton Rouge, La., where he started 65-67 and won the tournament by seven strokes.

Jack Nicklaus, playing his sixth tournament as a pro after winning the National Amateur and intercollegiate crowns last year, slipped to a two-over 73 Friday and is even par for 36 holes at 142.

Ninety pros with scores of 149 and better survived the 36-hole cut.

THERON'S
Down at the Old Country Store
On The Columbiana - Lisbon Road.

Never since I went into the food business did I have so many people tell me how well they like to shop here. They say since we got rid of trading stamps, lowered our prices and hired more help to clean up the place, shopping is now a real pleasure.

I'm sorry to disappoint my competitors who thought I was going to loose out when I did away with stamps.

Questions—Answers

Q—How old is the federal system of numbering highways?
A—The system was set up in the mid-1920s.

Q—What former president died in the Capitol?
A—After serving as president, John Quincy Adams became a member of the House of Representatives, where he collapsed while answering a roll call. He was moved to the speaker's office, where he died.

Columbiana Students Plan Science Exhibit

COLUMBIANA — More than 300 science project models, charts, and scientific emes by the Columbiana High School students will be on display at the Columbiana P.T.O. meeting Wednesday evening in the High School auditorium.

The fifth and 6th grades students under the direction of Mrs. Katherine McMahon will present a musical program. Mrs. Carrie Keylor will have baked goods on display from her home economics department.

A scientific display will follow the meeting in the gymnasium under the direction of the faculty. Eldon Strausbaugh, Fedord Detunnd and Richard Berryman.

THE ORDER OF EASTERN Star will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 13 at 8 p.m. in the Masonic Temple. Worthy Ma-wich, soup, crackers, baked rice, peaches, milk.

50 DONORS NEEDED

Fifty blood donors are needed if Salem is to reach the 125-pint quota when the bloodmobile is stationed at the First Methodist Church from 12 to 6 p.m. Monday, according to Louis Raymond, chairman.

At a recent board of directors meeting the Red Cross authorized the purchase of the film, "Prescription for Life." This is a film concerning the intire blood program and is available to anyone in the North Columbiana Chapter free. Reservations for the film may be made by calling the Red Cross office.

Marine Corps Officer To Interview Students

Capt. N. E. Ryder of the Marine Corps officer selection office in Columbus will be at Youngstown University from Feb. 21 to 23 to interview male students attending colleges in this area.

The Marine Corps now has five officer training programs. Three of these are for college students who either have or are candidates for a B.A. degree in a field other than medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine or theology.

A fourth program insures law students of assignment to a legal officer's billet. The other program is Marine Aviation Cadet (MARCAD), available to men who have completed two years of college.

There is evidence that handball, often considered one of the national games of Ireland, originated there about 1,000 years ago.
